I have written a user defined function which converts something in Greek to English. It works fine on its own but I need it to be user definable in excel for someone to enter in a Greek word, for example, instead of typing "pi", they might type "piete". My function is in a separate file from my main file. When I use this in my main file I get an error. Below is what I have been trying and the error it returns: 77a5ca646e
